SSS Mobile Hospital

The Sai Mobile Hospital is a unique and free rural outreach holistic health service launched on March 30th 2006 by Bhagawan Baba. A unit of the SSS Medical Trust, it operates from the 1st to 12th of every month at 12 base villages to each of which are attached another 6 villages. In practice however, patients are drawn from nearly 400 villages.

The hospital-on-wheels is managed almost entirely on voluntary basis. Five hundred doctors from the state of Andhra Pradesh belonging to 12 specialties serve in rotation. This diagnostic bus comes equipped with an ultra sonogram, x-ray plant with automatic processor and a laboratory which can perform most of the pathological and bio-chemical investigations.

Given the program's outreach, its larger agenda is based on a triangular approach of Curative thrust, Preventive focus and Spiritual base.

The curative thrust owes its strength to the presence of specialists belonging to Radiology, Medicine, Surgery, Orthopedics, ENT, Dentistry, Ophthalmology, Gynecology & Pediatrics on any given day. They work under a common roof integrating their efforts to solve many an intricate problem. Six hundred to seven hundred patients are seen every day at each of the nodal points.

The curative work is further strengthened by a strong pharmacy which ensures that patients with chronic ailments like epilepsy, diabetes, hypertension, heart disease and asthma are provided with continuous and uninterrupted supply of medicines (one month's worth till the next visit).

Patients requiring follow-up treatment like surgical intervention are referred to Baba's Super Specialty hospitals and their problems are monitored till the logical solutions are arrived.

On the diagnostic front, for the few tests that cannot be undertaken on the bus, the team has an innovative system in place. Samples are collected and delivered to the SSS Super Specialty

NUTRITIOUS FOOD WITH HEALTHCARE
Bhagawan Baba recently directed that the beneficiaries of the Mobile Hospital should also be provided nutritious meals. Food prepared at Prashanti Nilayam is served to the patients and other undernourished villagers by the volunteers. This ongoing program will serve several thousand villagers daily, satiating their hunger alongside providing healthcare.

offered through audiovisual presentations, demonstrative sessions, interactive meets and photo exhibition. It is further reinforced by regular screening through the local cable television.

The spiritual base of the service involves educating and motivating the villagers on the importance of positive thinking, human values and age-old practices like prayer and meditation all of which foster positive health.

With this holistic strategy, ninety percent of community's health problems are solved because the approach is professional, proactive and integrated and takes care of common ailments, chronic ailments, preventive ailments, asymptomatic diseases and endemic diseases. Only problems requiring major surgical intervention are referred to the base hospitals.

The impact of the service is tremendous. On the curative front it has given a sense of great security to people living in hundreds of villages around Pattaparthi. It is a boon for patients with chronic ailments who can never dream of buying medicines on a continuous

I WAS RAISED TO BELIEVE that happiness comes from acquiring wealth, high positions and power. However, experience taught me otherwise. In my first interview with Sai in 1987, He said "Material things, always change, change, change. Only Love lasts." I subsequently learned through practicing Baba's teachings that true Love is Love-in-Action, and it manifests and grows through self-denial and selfless service to others in need, filling one with true joy eternal.

THIS MYSTICAL ANCIENT LAND has gifted the world with endless enlightened beings. If the world is a spiritual train, Bharath is its engine and Sai Sathya Sai Baba is its current engineer. Sai's boundless love is evident in His historic and unequalled philanthropic achievements in aiding the poor and the suffering. He is your national treasure.

Who among men speaks the eternal truth spontaneously and with ultimate authority?

It has been my experience that Bhagawan Baba has these qualities. Four generations of my family and I have tested in Sai's incomparable love.

SSSVIP: The Sai VIP Villages

In the year 2000, the United Nations declared its eight main millennium development goals (MDG) that would lift more than 500 million people out of extreme poverty, restoring their dignity and aspirations to fulfill the human potential.

According to Dr. Kalyan Ray, former Head of the UN HABITAT's Water and Sanitation Department, "Though the overarching goal of the MDGs is tackling extreme poverty, water provides an entry point for action in achieving most of these goals."

On July 28, 2010, the UN adopted a resolution to recognise access to clean water and sanitation as a human right. Even as countries set about to achieve the goals, there is a sustainable model that has been functioning successfully in South India.

The Sai Water Project in East and West Godavari Districts of Andhra Pradesh was followed by medical camps for tribals in the hamlets that had remained untouched by modern civilisation and isolated from the rest of the world.

Soon it expanded to provide medical, social, economic and holistic benefits as well. The project not only delivered drinking water but also provided that human beings can be motivated to action as much by values as by economic benefits. These initiatives were the precursors to Baba's announcement of the Sri Sathya Sai Village Integrated Programme (SSSVIP) on March 20, 2007. Immediately the 25 hamlets in East Godavari District, which were already receiving drinking water supply from the Sai Project, were selected for a pilot project.

The main components of the SSSVIP are: infrastructure, employment, education, medical and health, social, spiritual and individual care.

Within a span of three years, the SSSVIP has extended to 1,300 villages across India and continues to grow. What is common among these villages is that essentials such as hospitals, schools, industries, banks or even post offices are beyond reach, majority of the population lives below the poverty line, and several of the government's welfare schemes have not touched these areas. Once a specific village is identified, a basic survey is conducted to assess the common and individual needs and the components are prioritised accordingly.

"An important aspect of the SSSVIP is counselling and emotional support. It may not be possible to solve all their problems, but the volunteers listen to the residents and provide emotional support, as well as counsel them. The emphasis is not just on material resources, but also on the healing power of love without proselytising," explains Mr. V. Srinivasan, the All India President of the SSS Seva Organisation.

In line with Baba's Universalism, the program does not discriminate between the beneficiaries on religious, caste, community or socio-economic grounds. Further, "It empowers the villagers to get involved," says Dr. Ram Manohar, the SSSVIP's National Coordinator.

The need for SSSVIP
The SSSVIP addressed the holistic needs of each villager, nurturing the family unit as the foundation. The eight

Sai Education: Transforming Through Truth

For Richard Mohan of Coimbatore, sending his daughter to the weekly Sathya Sai Education (SSE) classes has been a blessing. "My daughter now understands and appreciates the importance of prayer and our [Christian] customs," he says.

A non-formal, yet highly effective mode of education, SSE or Bal Vikas is the brainchild of Universal Teacher, Bhagawan Baba, whose vision of education goes beyond mere eradication of illiteracy or acquisition of degrees. Defining noble character as the desired end of education, Baba stresses education must equip the learner for a life and not merely for a earning a living. For the past 42 years, He has been filling the vacuum in the education system not just in India but also around the world through a well-designed strategy, with SSE as the delivery medium.

The Sai education module celebrates universal spirituality, promoting love and respect for all faiths by focusing on their universal values. The five human values of Truth, Right Conduct, Peace, Love, and Nonviolence are elicited through lessons based on the interactive teaching techniques such as stories, songs, prayers, or quotations, silent sitting, and games or group activities. Conducted for children 5-13 years, the 9-year program is divided into three groups, each with 3 sub-levels. Upon graduation, young adults enter the society as mature and balanced agents of positive change.

Pointing to the program's lasting success, its National Joint Coordinator Mrs. Vidya Srinivasan, says, "Even years after graduating, wherever our Voluntary workers of the Sai organisation talk and play with him on their visits to the village. They also chaperone his mother to his physiotherapy that has been arranged in Chennai.

Elderly Yagatha of the same village was malnourished and living alone. She is now a beneficiary of "Amirtha Kalasam" program, which ensures her monthly groceries and toiletries. In the Kanchipuram district of Tamil Nadu, the SSSVIP addressed nutritional and ecological concerns by planting thousands of drum sticks, papaya and curry leaf saplings for 700 families.

Earlier on in 2004, the Sai volunteers of UP and Uttarakhand successfully implemented a hydro-electric project at Pokhara, a village with 90 households in the Ghawal Hills. With technical inputs from IIT Kanpur, the project generates 5000 watts power from a small river.

In East Godavari District, the tribals had adopted shift cultivation, cutting down the forest trees to grow their produce. Food was scarce. Villagers, including children were coming daily to overcome hunger. The Sai sevadals provided seeds to raise kitchen gardens, taught the children to bathe daily, clip their nails and comb the hair. They worked with the teachers in the nearby school and organised medical camps. Now, the children in the 25 hamlets are completely free from alcoholism and at least 50 per cent of the women no longer consume toddy. The Government has been motivated to lay roads to all the hamlets which few knew existed prior to the Sai Water Project.

As the world approaches the 2015 deadline for achieving the Millennium Development Goals, India has proven that the SSSVIP is a viable model that builds trust and confidence, motivating people and authorities towards public participation and shared responsibility for the goal of community development.

witnessing the coronation of Lord Rama or the enlightenment of the Buddha or receiving the Sermon on the Mount from Jesus. Through His unprecedented philanthropy, Baba has demonstrated that human values are the missing link in the chain of good governance and harmonious social order. All of these have been chronicled in the previous supplement "Beacon of Love", which is available online at www.srisathyaasai.org.in. We invite you to view it as a prelude to the "The Universal Sai", which chronicles the global impact of Bhagawan Baba's all-encompassing Love.

Come, join this journey of love from I to We to Him, by breaking out from our self-imposed limitations and living out our divine destinies.

Love Without Borders

"God is Love, Love is God. Live in Love" says Bhagawan Baba. Today, His life and message can best be summed up as Love sans borders.

In a historic letter dated May 25, 1947, the then twenty year old Baba had declared: "I have a task - to foster all mankind and ensure everyone lives a life full of bliss... to remove the sufferings of the poor and grant them what they lack." In fulfilling this vow, Baba has been working continuously to bring about the joyous experience of love and compassion to humanity everywhere. Within the past 7 decades, His mission has grown to unparalleled proportions globally.

The celebrations to mark Baba's 85th birthday began a year in advance, from October 2009. The period has seen His Love draw pilgrims from 107 countries and 28 Indian states to Prashanti Nilayam to offer their homage in person.

This global gratitude comes from those who have transformed into noble citizens by following Baba's call to express unconditional love as service to fellow beings. Explaining this uniqueness of Baba's appeal, Dr. Michael Nobel, former Chairman of the Board of the Nobel Family Society says,

"What I find particularly attractive about Sai Baba's teachings is that He doesn't care what religion you belong to. Instead He gives a simple Golden Rule: Do what is good. Don't do what is bad. Love everyone."

Active in 125 countries, the International Sai Organisation conducts regular community outreach projects around the globe. These include educational, service, medical and spiritual activities. There are no membership dues or public appeals to raise money in any chapter of the Sai organisation.

End of Education is Character
The universal values of Truth, Peace, Love, Right Conduct and Nonviolence form the common platform for all Sai education projects around the world. Sai schools, weekend SSE classes and institutes for training teachers are growing around the world (see Transforming Through Truth for details).

FOR OVER 40 YEARS, Bhagawan Baba's teachings have guided my footsteps and inspired all my actions. He says "God resides in every human being, therefore service to man is service to God." He does not ask us to renounce the world, but to live in the world, serve mankind selflessly without expectation of any reward and surrender ourselves wholly to the Lord. Baba exhorts us to look past the differences of race, religion, language or caste and seek their underlying oneness.

Sai Schools' Achievements

South America has more Sathya Sai schools than any other continent. Brazil alone has five. It is astonishing to hear the stories of transformation of orphans into useful citizens.

In the Republic of Colombia, a group of volunteers and over 250 teachers trained in the SSEHV program work to transform the lives of abused children in poor communities.

The Sathya Sai School in Ndola, Zambia, has been nicknamed the "Miracle school" by locals for its ability to turnaround street children into well-rounded individuals. It won the Business Initiative Directions (BID) award, a prestigious international award at the 22nd International World Quality Commitment (WQC) Convention in Paris, held on 30th May, 2005.

SEAMEO and UN-HABITAT have declared the Sathya Sai School in Thailand as a 'Centre of Excellence'. Upon the request of the Ministry of Education, Thailand, over 20,000 teachers in the country have received training here. The school also trains educators from different parts of the world in "Human Values-Based Water Education". This unique program based on Baba's teachings has been adopted by the United

Sai Global Health Mission
Puttaparthi in 1956, has blossomed into a Sai healthcare network of two super specialty hospitals and two general hospitals, mobile hospitals, and international medical camps, all providing state-of-the-art primary to tertiary healthcare totally free of cost around the world.

Sai Net of Protection
Disease prevention has been a major focus of the Sai Organisation in all its medical work. Sai Organisations in Africa, Indonesia, Laos, and India have distributed mosquito nets impregnated with insecticide in malaria endemic areas. In Kenya alone, over 85,000 nets have been distributed, reducing the incidence of malaria by more than 50%. Also, mass immunisation, environmental hygiene and education in healthy living through lifestyle changes are an integral part of such preventive health programs.

Service to Man is Service to God
Sai volunteers across the world participate in a variety of community service projects and disaster relief work. They serve homeless shelters, soup kitchens and food banks at the community level. Clothing, blankets, toiletries, school supplies and groceries are also provided for needy families. Frequent visits to hospitals, elderly homes, orphanages and prisons are regular outreach activities of Sai Centres internationally.

Disaster Relief
In the wake of disasters, such as Hurricane Katrina and the Tsunami of 2004, the volunteers of the Sai Organisation are often among the first to arrive and offer help to the afflicted.

Sai Presence Across the Globe
Sai volunteers worked round the clock to provide relief and rehabilitation to the victims of the massive earthquake that struck the Republic of Haiti on 12th January 2010. Between 19th January and August 2010, under the guidance of Baba, they provided free medical treatment to over 24,000 people, served more than 150,000 hot meals, supplied thousands of gallons of potable water, built homes and cleaned roadways for Haitians. The work that began seven days after the earthquake in the midst of widespread destruction continues to this day with the discipline, determination and dedication that has become the hallmark of Sai volunteers.

At the invitation of the Myanmar government, the Sathya Sai Baba Central Council of Malaysia, along with volunteers from Singapore and Thailand, undertook the monumental task of building a village with 51 new homes, a temple and a school, for the victims of the tropical storm 'Nargis' that hit the Ayeyarwaddy Delta region of the capital city of Yangon. This village was later christened as the Sri Sathya Sai Baba Village and inaugurated on 21st December 2008.

The devastating Indian Ocean tsunami in 2004 killed approximately 230,000 people in 14 countries. Sai Organisation rushed immediate relief to victims in Thailand, Indonesia, Sri Lanka and Malaysia, providing medical aid, drinking water, groceries and cooked food to the afflicted.

Three mosques, 108 houses, and four large water tanks were also built in Jogjakarta, Indonesia. The Sai Organisation of Malaysia received the prestigious Malaysian Humanitarian Award in 2006 for its timely and large-scale relief work.

Water Projects
As part of its efforts to combat the serious water shortage that exists in Africa and parts of Asia, the UN adopted a "Human Values-based Water Education Approach" proposed by the International Sathya Sai Organization. This initiative imparts vital information on water conservation, sanitation, and hygiene.

Over the years, the Sathya Sai Organization has completed 12 water projects in El Salvador in Central America providing safe drinking water for about 2,000 families. The Sai Centre of Yogyakarta, Indonesia has built 90 wells to provide clean water to more than 300 families in the community of Gunung Kidul where the wells are called 'Yayasan Sri Sathya Sai Baba'.

Transformation of the Heart
In a landmark Divine Discourse delivered on 4th July 1968, Sri Sathya Sai Baba announced, "I have come to light the lamp of Love in your hearts, to see that it shines day by day with added lustre. I have not come on behalf of any exclusive religion. I have not come on a mission of publicity for a sect or creed or cause, nor have I come to collect followers for a doctrine. I have no plan to attract disciples or devotees into my fold or any fold. I have come to tell you of this unitary faith, this spiritual principle, this path of Love, this virtue of Love, this duty of Love, this obligation of Love."

multi-faith calendar fills the ashram schedule. Be it Buddha Poonrime, Chinese New Year, Shivratri or Yom Kippur, thousands arrive daily to rise above sectarianism and soak in the peace of the sacred precincts. The 2005 Interfaith Conference held in Prashanti Nilayam, saw participants from Islam, Buddhism, Jainism, Christianity, Judaism Zoroastrianism and Hinduism who were unanimous in their prayer which neatly sums up the focus of the Sai Organisation across the globe: May all the beings in all the worlds be happy!

SPREADING SAI AWARENESS THROUGH THE 1980'S

1983
Bhajans started in Dhammasthan in Chulalongkorn University, Bangkok.

The formal Sathya Sai Organization in Australia was established when Mr Indulal Shah, Chairman of the Sathya Sai World Council, visited Australia in April 1983.

1984
A handful of devotees from Taiwan returned home to further strengthen the Taiwanese Sai movement after Baba granted them a group audience in Prashanti Nilayam.

1985
The Sathya Sai Foundation of Bangkok was registered during the 60th year of Sai Advent. Four important Sai books were also published: Charles Penn's 'Sai Ram', John Hislop's 'My Baba and I', Samuel Sandeivise's 'Spirit and Mind' and Baba with Phyllis Krystal, author of Sai Baba: The Ultimate Experience.

1986
'Finding God', Charles Penn's final book was published. Here, he relates his life-long search for God and his road to Sathya Sai Baba.

1987
Sathya Sai Organization was formed in Puerto Rico.

1988
After the Sai Centre had firmly established in Uruguay, the devotees unified to take up more service activities at old age homes, helping poor and impoverished children of the streets, started regular food and clothing drives.

1990
Sai Foundation of El Salvador swung into full service mode, rebuilding a Catholic church and providing disaster relief in the aftermath of an earthquake. The movement became even more

ICONIC SPEAK

BABA IS SILENTLY PROMOTING values education and spiritual transformation through social service projects on a massive scale globally. His message of unity of faiths and the fatherhood of God and brotherhood of man has reached the farthest corners of the globe. My family has been enriched by Baba's blessings.

WE ARE INDEED BLESSED to have brought into Bhagavan's fold by His Divine Grace. He has moulded our lives and those of our children as well, instilling in all of us the principles of hard work, good values and, above all, devotion to God. At times of adversity and personal loss He has been the sole source of courage, assuring us that He is taking care. He has opened our eyes and made us understand that true devotion to Him can only be demonstrated by serving and caring for others around us. The only power He uses to transform us is the power of His love. Acceptance of His will and living by His teachings has filled us both with a sense of inner peace and to Him we are both most grateful.

IN THE EARLY 1970S, I first saw Baba with the then Police Commissioner of Bangalore Mr. Nizamuddin. After my marriage to Subhalakshmi, we performed during the 70th birthday celebrations. Both my sons Amaan and Ayaan have received Baba's love and blessings. Baba has always had special bond with all the Muslims of our country. We are grateful to Baba's vision to create free hospitals, schools, colleges and of course the water projects, which are a testimony of His love for humanity.

ONCE, THREE DAYS PRIOR to my departure for India, I broke my nose. The pain was unbearable. On the flight I even caught a cold. Upon reaching the ashram, Baba granted me an interview. I had not told anyone of my accident. In the middle of the conversation, Baba suddenly stretched His hand and caught hold of my nose, shaking it from side to side for about 20 seconds. I felt no pain. When He released His grip, my nose was completely healed, bone fused and the cold gone...Baba is not only healing broken noses but more importantly the hearts and minds of millions in Latin America and the world.
