

The Start of Websites for Bhagavan Sri Sathya Sai Baba

After discussing the start of a website for the International Sai Organization with Michael Goldstein and others, in an interview in June 1995, David Gries presented a proposal for it to Swami. Swami said, "Do it, do it."

After reporting this to Dr. Goldstein, the website was designed and implemented. It was hosted where it still is hosted today, 23 November 2010, Swami's 85th Birthday, on the servers of the company Sai Systems in Shelton, Connecticut, USA, owned by longtime devotee Ramesh Wadhvani, at this address:

The proposal presented to Swami appears in this document, beginning on the next page.

That first website was quite small. We have placed it on www.sathyasai.org at this address:

There is a website called the WayBack Machine that makes snapshots of the web. At this address, you can see all the snapshots made of www.sathyasai.org over the years, as well as snapshots of almost all websites.
