Hundreds of Houston Residents Walk to Promote Values

Submitted by Style News Wire on Thursday, 30 April 2009 No Comment

Walk for Values USA will take the city by storm on Saturday, May 2, 2009, as hundreds of Houston TX. residents from all walks of life step out to make a difference at an awareness walk in downtown Houston, beginning and ending in Discovery Green Park (across from George Brown Convention Center). Council member Peter Brown will present a proclamation on behalf of the City of Houston.

Walk for Values USA is unique because unlike other walks, it is not a fund-raiser, protest, rally, or demonstration. Instead, it seeks simply to raise awareness, and it is open to everyone free of charge. Concerned about increasing violence in our schools, the growing threat of global warming, and declining levels of morale and confidence in our nation, friends and members of the Sathya Sai Organization are stepping out to make a difference by raising awareness to the importance of practicing Truth, Right Conduct, Peace, Love, and Nonviolence. These human values shape the way we think, feel, and behave, and when these values are not expressed, the result is anger, distrust, fear, suffering, disrespect, crime, corporate greed, environmental degradation, and violence. When they are expressed, the result is kindness, compassion, honesty, empathy, tolerance, generosity, forgiveness, and a sense of security. Human values are universal and transcend the barriers of race, religion, culture, and ethnicity. They are the pillars of every society, and they are especially needed for creating and renewing a strong, proud, and confident United States of America.

Participants of Walk for Values USA believe that these human values are worth walking for and hope to help raise the universal consciousness and awareness about the importance of practicing them in our daily lives. They have also pledged to “adopt a value” that they will practice themselves, to help bring about this awareness. Participants will carry signs and banners with the messages of truth, right conduct, peace, love, and nonviolence.

Walk for Values USA is organized by The Sathya Sai Organization of U.S.A – North and South Houston Centers, not-for-profit groups, and is part of a global effort to promote the practice of human values by providing opportunities to participate in community-based service activities.
